Choice Poetry.

WE SHALL BE HAPPY YET.

Fear not, beloved, though clouds may lower,
Whilst rainbow visions melt away;
Faith's holy star hath still a power
That may the deepest midnight sway.
Fear not! I take a prophet's tone,
Our love can neither wane nor set:
My heart, in trust, grows strong, mine own,
We shall—we shall be happy yet.

What though long anxious months have pass'd
Since this true heart was vow'd to thine,
There'll come for us a light, at last,
Whose beam upon our path shall shine.
We long have loved 'midst doubts and fears,
Yet never with one hour's regret:
There comes a joy to gild our tears—
We shall—we shall be happy yet.

Aye, by the wandering birds that find
A home beyond the mountain wave,
Though many a wave and storm combined
To drag them to an ocean grave;
By summer suns that brightly rise,
Though erst in mournful tears they set;
By all love's hopeful prophecies—
We shall—we shall be happy yet.

GOD OVER ALL.

Thrice blessed thought that, in our hour of pain,
And in our brief allotted life as well,
There is an arm, stronger than man may tell,
Upholds our ways across life's stormy main:—
There is an eye whose faint love cannot drain,
Woos us away from earth's deceitful spell,
Woos us, however our cold hearts rebel,
Entreats, and though we mock, entreats again—
How sweet that one so great should be so good!
So powerful and yet so merciful!
How sweet that you and I in audible
Thanksgiving and in praise, may daily call
Him Father, Friend! while life's great brotherhood
Closer in union, links the words, God over all.

Miscellaneous.

The Other Side.

Once, in a happy home, a sweet, bright baby died. On the evening of the day when the children gathered around their mother, all sitting very sorrowful, Alice, the eldest, said:

"Mother, you took all the care of the baby while she was here, and you carried and held her in your arms all the while she was ill; now, mother, who took her on 'the other side?'"

"On the other side of what, Alice?"

"On the other side of death; who took baby on the other side, mother?—She was so little, she could not go alone."

"Jesus met her there," answered mother. "It is he who took little children in his arms to bless them, and said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." He took the baby on the other side.

A Mother's Prayer.

An exchange well says: The boy that feels his name is mentioned in a good mother's prayers is comparatively safe from vice, and the ruin to which it leads. The sweetest thought that N. P. Willis ever penned, grew out of a reverence to his pious mother's prayers for him. Tossed by the waves, in a vessel which was bearing him homeward, he wrote:

"Sleep safe, oh! wave-worn mariner,
Nor fear to-night, nor storm nor sea!
The ear of Heaven bends low to her;
He comes to shore who sails with me."

☞"Too many persons grow to use their religion as a diver doth his bell—to venture down into the depths of worldliness with safety, and grope for pearls with just so much of heaven's air as will keep them from suffocating and no more; and some, alas! as at times is the case with divers, are suffocated with the experiment."

☞Times of general calamity and confusion have ever been productive of the greatest minds. The purest ore is produced from the hottest furnace, and the brightest thunderbolt is elicited from the darkest storm.

☞The longer we live in this world of roses and thorns, the more we learn to revere those philanthropic axioms, "Bear and forbear," "Live and let live,"—and to reverence a faith, whose Christian founder has made it a condition of having our trespasses forgiven, that we should forgive the trespasses against us.

☞The pious John Newton says: "I was once in a large company where many severe things were spoken of Mr. W., when one person seasonably observed, that though the Lord was pleased to effect conversion and edification by a variety of means, he had never known anybody convicted of error by what was said of him behind his back. This was about thirteen years ago, and it has been on my mind as an useful hint ever since."

☞ Let no man be too proud to work. Let no man be ashamed of a hard fist or a sun-burnt countenance. Let him be ashamed only of ignorance and sloth. Let no man be ashamed of Poverty. Let him only be ashamed of dishonesty and idleness.

☞As Isaac met his bride in the fields at eventide, so do true souls frequently find their joy and consolation in the loneliness of solitude, and at the sunset of their earthly pleasures. He who would see the stars sparkling with ten-fold lustre must dwell in the cold regions of snow.

☞A witty clergyman, accosted by an old acquaintance of the name of Cobb, replied: 'I don't know you, sir.' My name is Cobb,' rejoined the man, who was about half-seas over. 'Oh, sir,' replied the clergyman, 'you have so much of the corn on you that I could not see the cob.'

A Short Metre Prayer.

The Rev. Mr. Derwell, a pious and curious old Methodist minister, went from Tennessee to Kentucky, in 1812, to visit his relative, the Hon. William Bolton.—The man was not religious, but was a gentleman, and invited the minister to have family worship every evening. While he was visiting there, Judge Cone and his wife, from Nashville, arrived to pass the night, and Mr. Bolton being a little embarrassed, said to the old minister as he brought out the Bible, that he had better be short, as the Judge was probably not accustomed to such things.

"Very well, very well," said he; and reading a single verse, he knelt down and prayed: "O Lord, we are very poor and needy creatures, and we know thou art able to supply all our wants, but Cousin William says that Judge Cone and his wife from Nashville are here, and are not used to family worship, and however needy we are, there is no time to spare in telling thee our wants, Amen."

The Judge was taken all aback, and so was Cousin William. They both pressed the old gentleman to conduct the services in his own way, which he did, to their great edification.

☞The truth of this story is vouched for by the Judge, and he ought to know:

"In the town of G—— there lived one Patrick ——, and his spouse Biddy, the current of whose lives was frequently ruffled by breakers in the guise of "whasky" jugs.

"Frequent brawls and bloody noses, mutually given and received, attested the love of each for the 'cruther.' In these conjugal bouts, victory would perch upon the banner of the soberer—or, more properly, the least drunk of the two. Finally, Biddy outwitted her lord, and, getting possession of the jug, contrived to get 'elegantly drunk,' while Pat was, per force, only able to get 'tight.'

"This was too much for Pat's forbearance; so at it they went, rough-and-tumble, Pat demanding his full share of the drink at every blow, and she returning a Roland for his Oliver with her refusals. But Pat struck one blow too many, and poor Biddy lay a corpse before him. Pat's mind was haunted by visions of a 'jug' he had not bargained for, but he made a clean breast of it, and was marched off to jail. Then came the trial. Pat plead 'Guilty,' and claimed the mercy of the Court. The Court demanded, 'Prisoner, what have you to say why sentence of the law should not be passed upon you? This stumped Pat, but clothing his face with a most ludicrous expression of innocent simplicity, he replied, 'Shure, yer honor, and ye won't be afther punishin' a poor Irishman jist for killin' such a baste of a woman as would hide the whasky jug from her husband, and niver give him a dhrop at all at all!'

"His Honor considered Pat's plea, and sent him to the State prison for eighteen years."

Weight of the Evidence should Carry the Day.—Josh was brought before a country squire for stealing a hog, and three witnesses being examined swore they saw him steal it. A wag having volunteered as counsel for Josh, knowing the scope of the squire's brain, arose and addressed him as follows: "May it please your honor, I can establish this man's honesty beyond the shadow of a doubt; for I have twelve witnesses ready to swear that they did not see him steal it." The squire rested his head for a few moments upon his hand, as if in deep thought, and then with great dignity arose, and brushing back his hair, said—"If there are twelve who did not see him steal it, and only three that did, I discharge the prisoner. Clear the room!"

☞A stutterer was asked the way to Waterbury. With great politeness he strove to say it was ahead, but in vain; the more he tried the more he couldn't. At last, red in the face and furious with unavailing exertion, he burst forth with "gug g'long! you'll g-g-get there afore I c-c-can tell you!"

☞"Once on a time" an Irishman and a negro were fighting, and while grappling with each other, the Irishman exclaimed:

"You black divil! cry enough, I'll fight till I die."

"So'll I, boss!" sung out the darkey, "I always does."

☞A spendthrift, who had wasted his patrimony, rallying a frugal country gentleman, said, among other things, "I'll warrant these buttons on your coat were your grandfather's." "Yes," said the other, "and I have got my grandfather's lands, too!"

☞Wilkins—"Really this is not to be borne. Who are you, sir? and who was your father?"

Home-bred—"Who was my father? My father was the inventor of threshing machines. I am the first of his make, and can be set in operation at a very little expense and at the shortest notice. So look out."

The Body Politic.—Quaint old Fuller says: "Let him who expects one class of society to prosper in the highest degree, while the other is in distress, try whether one side of his face can smile while the other side is pinched."

☞What a poor world this would be without women and newspapers! How would the news get about?

A VOLUNTEER BULL FIGHT.

I remember once seeing, when a lad at school, a fight between two bulls. Although I could not have been more than eight years of age, I shall never forget the spectacle. It happened in this wise:—Close by the school house—a very unpretending edifice it was—ran a deep and rapid river. Across it had been thrown a high wooden bridge, the hand-railing of which time, and the winds and the weather, had entirely destroyed. The land on the opposite sides of the stream was owned by different persons and farmed by them respectively. One bright summer day—I remember it as it were yesterday—the hour of noon had arrived, and a frolicsome, fun-seeking troop of school-boys were let loose for an hour's recreation.

All at once the bellowing and roaring of two bulls, that had broken out of their enclosure on each side of the river, attracted our attention. The animals were not yet in sight of each other, but were approaching along the highway at a rate of speed which would cause them to meet near the centre of the high bridge which I have described, and beneath which, at some thirty feet, ran the river, between steep banks. The more daring of us gathered near the bridge, lining it, to see the anticipated fight. We were not disappointed.—Nearer and nearer they approached, the proud, pawing combatants. Bashan never produced two brutes of fiercer aspect.—They lashed their sides with their tails—they tore the ground with their feet. Occasionally they kneeled down, trying to gore the earth with their horns. And as yet they were concealed, each from the other, by the ascent to the bridge at either end.

Presently, as they simultaneously ascended the respective abutments, they came full in sight of each other. The roar was mutual and actually tremendous.—Every urchin of us sprang into the fields, and ran. Finding, however, that we were not pursued, we hastily retraced our steps. There they were, the ferocious duellists, quite as sensibly employed as some of their human imitators. Front to front, their horns locked, every muscle strained, they were fighting as only bulls can fight—It seemed an even match. Now one would press back his opponent a few paces, and presently you would hear quick, sharp, short steps, and his adversary would be pressed back in return. The struggling was hard, was long, was savage. For awhile neither obtained an advantage.

Hitherto they had been pushing each other lengthwise of the bridge; suddenly they began to wheel, and in a moment were facing each other crosswise. They were at right angles with the length of the old bridge, which shook and creaked, and rocked again with their tramping and their terrible strife. It was the work of a single moment, one of the beasts—I could not tell which—one of them, however, as if conscious of his position, made a violent, a desperate plunge forward and pressed his antagonist back—back—back—till there was but another step of the plank behind him—between him and nothing! The moment was one of intense interest to us juvenile spectators. Never was the amphitheatre of Rome the scene of a more exciting combat. Another step backward—yes, the unfortunate bull was forced to take it! Back he pressed, and over he goes!

Such a sight I never saw—I probably shall never see again. Imagine a bull pitched backwards over a bridge and falling at least thirty feet, over and over! He turned once or twice, probably; I thought he turned fifty times, there seemed such a confusion of horns and feet revolving, flying through the air. But down he went; the water was deep, and he disappeared, leaving a whirlpool of foam behind him, and making the river undulate far and wide with the concussion of his ponderous bulk

The other bull did not laugh—merely because bulls, as I supposed, could not.—But we laughed and shouted our applause. There stood the victor, looking directly down into the abyss below, into which he had hurled his unlucky foe. He stood, however, but a moment, and then, as if frightened at the prospect, he began to snort and step backward. Back, back he retreated, with his head in the same pugnacious attitude as when in combat—back—still another step back—and over he, too, went, on the opposite side of the bridge, performing just as many and as ludicrous somersets as his adversary had done a minute before.

It was a scene to remember; and the performance called forth immense applause from the group of juvenile amateurs who witnessed it. In about five minutes both bulls might be seen, well sobered by their ducking, dripping wet, scratching up the steep, gravelly banks, each on his own side of the river. "Those bulls will never fight any more," said a boy behind me. His prediction turned out correct; for two more peaceably disposed bulls than they were, ever afterward, could not have been found.

☞"A man came to Philadelphia some years ago, exhibiting six boys and six girls, but all of them were dressed in girl's clothes. They were all so much like girls in appearance, that he made money betting that no one could tell t'other from which. An Irishman went out and returned with a dozen apples. Throwing one to each of the children, he observed that some caught them in their hands; these he said, were boys. Others held their aprons; these, he said, were girls. Pat hit right."

☞Economy—a man who chews $14 worth of tobacco annually, and stops his newspaper because he is poor.

Good Tobacco.

A well known merchant in Boston, a lover of the weed, is accustomed, whenever his own consumption exceeds the supply, to call upon his friends for a morsel. Waiting at the railroad station the other day, and desiring to chew something besides the end of fancy, he advanced to Mr. ——, a dry joker of Bristol county, who was enjoying the mastication of a bit of cavendish with evident relish.

"I say, S——, have you got a piece of tobacco you know to be good?"

"Yes!" said S——, suddenly drawing a huge quid from his cheek; "there's some I know to be good, I've tried it."

The outstretched palm of the merchant was hastily withdrawn, and he was forced to join the crowd in the laughter.

The Great Russian Railroad.

Our readers have heard of this line of road, constructed and managed by American engineers, who have made fortunes out of it. Bayard Taylor's last letter from Russia gives the following interesting particulars respecting the road:

"There are thirty three stations between Moscow and St. Petersburg. At the most of these, the station houses are palaces, are built exactly alike, and on a scale of magnificence which scorns expense. A great deal of needless luxury has been wasted upon them. The bridges also are models of solidity and durability. Everything is on the grandest scale, and the punctuality and exactness of the running arrangements are worthy of all praise. But at what a cost has all this been accomplished! This road, 400 miles in length, over a level country, with very few cuts, embankments, and bridges, except between Moscow and Tver (about one fourth of the distance,) has been built at an expense of 120,000,000 rubles, ($90,000,000), or $225,000 per mile.—When one takes into consideration the cheapness of labor in Russia, the sum becomes still more enormous."

Mr. Winan's contract, which was originally for ten years, has yet three years to run, and the annual profit upon the contract is said to be one million rubles, or the enormous sum of $750,000.

Water, Land, Air, and Fire.—In the last international regatta, we whipped Europe on the water; in the late chess contest in London and Paris, we whipped her on the land; and in the late balloon race between an American aeronaut and the French champion, we beat her in the air. We wonder what element she will choose for the next trial. She had better not name fire, for we have shown in two wars that we can stand fire better than she can.

This is almost as good a philippic as the last bomb-shell from the London Times.

Beautiful Sentiment.

One of the finest passages in the play of 'Richelieu'—

Richelieu—'Young man, be blithe! for note me, from the hour I grasp that packet, think your guardian star rains fortune on you.'

Francois—'If I fail?'

Richelieu—'Fail! fail! In the bright lexicon of youth, which fate reserves for a glorious manhood, there is no such word as fail!'

Why should a young man fail? If he be honest, if he be honorable, if he be ardent, if he be energetic, if he be gifted with mental power, if he be right in soul and strength, he should never fail. And if any alluring temptation whispers in his ear words that would make him turn aside, let him revert to that 'bright lexicon' and never fail.

A Contrast.

In the Christian Intelligencer of the present week, Philip Berry, one of the survivors of the ill-fated steamer Austria, gives some incidents of the terrible catastrophe, which recently befel her, from which we take the following extract. What a lesson does it teach to all the living.

HOW AN INFIDEL DIED.

On board of the Austria there were but few Christians, probably not more than twenty-five. There were some bold wretched infidels. I saw the boldest and most Heaven-defying of them all perish. The day before the disaster, tracts were distributed among the passengers, and were kindly received by most of them; but this man's depravity was not satisfied to receive one and destroy it before our faces, but he stealthily gathered as many as he could from the passengers, and feasted on his shame that he had destroyed them. He was as bold as a lion when there was no danger near; but, when God spake the following day, he trembled at the alarm, and he was scarcely able to move.

I saw him go overboard. He threw out his arms as he lay upon his back on the wave, his eyes seemed as if they would start from their sockets, the writhings of agony were seen in his features; and as he was sinking, the last I saw of him, he clenched his hands, wringing them in agony, and he just leaving the earth for——, oh! for what?

A moment more, and, could we have stood on the other side of the river of death, we might have heard the despairing cry of 'Oh that I had been wise!' I wept when I saw this.

Though so subdued as he seemed in that hour, and, with Voltaire, would have given all that he was worth for a short reprieve, yet had he been rescued he would probably, like some others that were humbled when death threatened, be the same heartless monster when the rescue came. Some who prayed when the flames were rushing on them, cursed when they were delivered.—How mysterious! What unsearchable mercy is mingled with God's judgment! May we not hope, that by their death the godless and wicked on that steamer will be the means of quickening others into life? We must believe it!

HOW A CHRISTIAN DIED.

From behind the ragings of those flames, there comes the "still small voice" of consolation. Allow me briefly to narrate the Christian scene. At the time of the alarm my traveling companion, H. Schiebe, of our Theological Seminary, and myself, were conversing in the cabin, and found our means of escape through the sky-light. When we reached the deck he was exhausted, and while I was attempting to find out some means of safety, I left him giving consolation to those who so much needed it. When I found all hopes of relief for the vessel was gone, I returned to him with a life-buoy for each of us. As I approached him, the following beautiful incident occurred: A forlorn female came to him in the greatest agony, wringing her hands, and burdened with fear, and asked him, "What can I do?" He replied, "Trust in the Saviour—He is merciful and kind—He will hear you." "Oh, I can't pray," she answered. Then said he, "I will pray with you," and he did so. He then left her and came to me. We bade each other farewell, and stood conversing during the few moments that remained to us on the wreck. We delivered our farewell message, each to the other, so if either were saved our dear friends would know they were not forgotten by us in bidding adieu to earth. And I will repeat to the Christian world some of the testimonies that he left behind him. As he looked around at the hastening flames, and then at the distant sail, he said, "If it is God's will, we will be saved—we may be; I think not. He knows what is best. Brother, said he, my only hope is in the Saviour—how precious He is! Tell my friends, if you are saved, I die happy! Oh, my poor father and mother! write to them, will you not?" At that moment we heard a fearful shriek at our feet, and, on looking down, saw a poor creature screaming wildly, with his head from a port hole, and the flames encircling it. "We must soon go," he said; "precious brother, farewell; a few moments, and we will meet in heaven." As we had before agreed, we leaped into the ocean at the same time. That leap parted us. He has gone to a higher service, but left me here to plod on in this "vale of tears," a little while longer.

Our small Christian company on the quarter deck was composed of six brethren and two sisters; and after giving each our last earthly embrace and farewell we went to the side of the vessel, resolved to cling to it as long as possible. What a contrast between our band and those who knew not the preciousness of having Jesus as their best friend! We were sustained in that hour by our Saviour's presence. We were all composed—not fearing death, though it met us in a fearful shape. We thought not of the merciless ocean beneath, but of God and heaven overhead. The calmness that reigned in our little circle is another instance of the reality of the Christian's hope, and the certainty that it will not fail when needed. There was no such tranquil scene as this among those who had placed their trust outside of Christ and his righteousness.

During those twenty minutes that I remained on the vessel, were crowded pictures of misery that can fill a lifetime's contemplative hours; but above them towering in sublime grandeur, the christian heroism of a few pious souls. The fearful tragedy could not daunt or smother that.

Lynch Law in Kentucky.

The particulars of the hanging of two men at Greensburg, Kentucky, mentioned recently by telegraph, have reached us in the Louisville papers.

There were four men confined in jail at Greensburg on a charge of having murdered Henry Sympson, Esq., a year and a half ago. A body of men, numbering some three hundred, from the adjoining localities, assembled at Campbellsville and marched to Greensburg. The mob proceeded to the jail, which is built of stone and very strong, and found the doors locked and the jailor gone. A number of men immediately seized a large piece of heavy timber, and with several tremendous blows burst the door from its hinges. An inner door was speedily broken with crowbars and sledge-hammers. The locks of the cell doors were also soon broken. One of the men, Elias Scoggs, was found weltering in the last agonies of death, having with a razor cut his throat from ear to ear. The remaining three men, namely, Bill Saul Thompson, Sloan Despano, and George Hunter, were then brought from the jail, bound and mounted behind men on horseback, when the crowd, in double file, amid throngs of spectators, took up their return march to Campbellsville, a distance of twelve miles, during which two of the miserable men displayed considerable firmness, asserting their innocence in the most positive terms. On arriving they conducted the three men to an elm tree, and began making preparations to hang them. At Thompson's request a prayer was offered in their behalf, he praying and weeping aloud during the time. He was then mounted on a horse, and after again asserting his innocence for the last time a rope was put about his neck, the end thrown over a limb, the horse driven from under, and Thompson was launched into eternity. Despano soon shared a similar fate. At this stage Hunter gave evidence of making a clean breast, which, after some delay and a good deal of reluctance, he did, confessing to the guilt of Scoggs, Thompson, and himself, and implicating five others as being concerned in the murder. He was then taken to jail.—The murder of Sympson was a most atrocious one, the murderers doing the deed at night and robbing his house, according to the confession of Hunter, of $5,000 or $6,000.

Tornado in Mississippi.

A terrible tornado occurred in East Mississippi on the nights of the 29th and 30th ultimo. The Mobile Mercury has some particulars of it:

"That of Tuesday night occurred about 4 P. M., and passed through the western portion of Jasper county. In its course it struck the plantation of Josiah Moody, and the report that reaches us is that every house was swept completely away and their fragments scattered far along the whirlwind's path, and with them almost the entire family swept into eternity. Of thirteen persons in the house at the time, the lifeless and mangled bodies of nine were picked up by the neighbors who assembled the next morning. Some of these were carried a great distance along its track by the awful power of the storm. Two others, the wife of Mr. Moody and his little daughter, were found alive, but so severely wounded that no hope was entertained of their recovery. But one of Mr. Moody's family, a little girl, escaped, who is expected to survive, but with considerable injuries. A man who seems not to have belonged to the family, but was staying there, escaped with so little injury that at daylight he was able to proceed to the house of Mr. Dickinson, who lived the nearest by, with his sad message of death and destruction, and in quest of assistance. There he found the house all blown down but no one killed, Mr. Dickinson's house being just upon the verge of the storm and not receiving its full force. The neighbors gathered to the scene as fast as the news spread, and after search found all the missing; the nine dead, and two supposed to be mortally wounded, as stated above. A son of the old man, with a young wife and infant, had arrived on a visit to his father's on the evening before. They were all lost. Of the further progress and ravages of that tornado we have heard nothing, but fear it is not all told. On the next (Wednesday) night a hurricane passed through a portion of Clarke and Lamesster counties. It seemed to have been less violent, but not unattended with loss of life. We hear of the death of a negro belonging to a Mr. Brewster, in Lauderdale county."

Frightful Accident.

A horrible accident occurred on Saturday week at New Orleans, fortunately attended with but the loss of one life. Two painters, named James Naylor and Dick Reed, were engaged painting the cornice of the upper windows on the Camp street side of Odd Fellows' Hall. They were on a kind of platform suspended by ropes from and secured above in such a manner that they could raise or lower themselves at will.—This platform was fastened to ropes by means of hooks that were in turn corded or 'moused' with cords to prevent them becoming unhooked. The fatal casualty happened through the breaking, in some way not explained, of this mousing, which allowed the hook to get out of the ring it clasped, and consequently that side of the platform was precipitated downwards. Naylor had time but to utter a single cry ere he was dashed to death on the pavement beneath, a distance of some seventy or eighty feet. The escape of his comrade from the same dreadful death was almost miraculous.—Just as the platform sank from under him he happened to be reaching for a paint pot that lay on the cornice, and to do so he had to grasp the rope with his right hand and had his left just passing over the corner of the moulding. He luckily had sufficient grasp to hold on by, as he felt the seat go down. Suspended at such a height, with the scene he had observed below, was indeed an awful situation, but he was able to come down from his perilous place by the rope, which was loosened from above.

Served him Right.—The mayor of Martinsburg, Va., has fined a man in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company the sum of $21 and costs, for disturbing the service at the German Reformed church in that city.

Slavery in Kansas.—The Kansas Sheriff of Leavenworth county, (Kansas) advertises for sale—"a yoke of oxen and one negro boy."

Conviction of a Seducer.

Francis C. Sexton, a purser's clerk on the United States frigate Niagara at the time of laying the cable, charged with rape on a Miss Wood, of New York, has been tried at Newark, N. J., and found guilty. The punishment is from one to fifteen years imprisonment, or one to two thousand dollars fine, or both. The Newark Mercury, speaking of the trial, says:

The parties are all strangers, and yet the tale unfolded by the evidence was of the saddest character, and full of those bitter realities which exhibit life in its shadow and gloom. According to this sad episode, one of those worthless and shiftless men who live on the edges of society, and who form one of the floating and changing elements of our large cities, crossed, upon an unfortunate summer day, the path of a young girl in the city of New York, of most respectable parentage, and wiled her from her parents and her home. Scarcely seventeen, favored by more than ordinary beauty, the choice flower of a family circle, she went out one afternoon, to return, after days of absence, a ruined outcast, with the mark of infamy upon her.

The verdict of the jury was received in every quarter as a just and righteous one. Every parent feels to-day that the courts have thrown a new guard around the family hearth, and that the innocent and thoughtless have been thus protected from evil. The heartless wretches who throng our cities, looking upon the young and beautiful as their prey, have been taught a lesson which they will long remember.—And many a giddy and thoughtless girl might learn, from the touching story of this ruined outcast, a lesson which would leave its moral in her heart. Life has its pages of individual history more sadly written than any which romance portrays, and they who truly read them may draw from them the wisdom which will guide their steps aright. In the deep shadow in which the young girl's life is cast there may come no sunlight, but her history will not be without its warning.

Boiler Explosion.

A terrible explosion of the boilers of the steam saw-mill at Industriana, five miles above Minneapolis, took place at ten o'clock Wednesday morning. The mill was erected and put in operation last spring, the saws being propelled by a powerful engine with three boilers. At the time of the catastrophe there were seventeen men in the mill, and it is a miracle that many were not killed on the spot. The noise of the explosion was terrific, and the wreck was total and most complete. Hardly one timber was left upon another, and all the men standing nearest were crushed in the ruins. The mill was demolished. The engineer, Mr. J. Wolff, had his leg broken at the thigh, and was otherwise severely injured. William Hall suffered a horrible fracture of one leg, a portion of it being carried away. Four others, whose names we did not learn, were badly wounded. We can best illustrate the force of the explosion by saying that one of the boilers, thirty feet in length, nearly three feet in diameter, and weighing 3 500 pounds, was blown a quarter of a mile through the air, passing over two dwelling houses in its flight. Another boiler was sunk half its length in an adjacent bank, while the third remained unmoved. The disaster is attributed to the safety-valves being out of order.—St. Anthony News, Nov. 4.

Singular Depravity.

As will be remembered, on the afternoon of the 18th of October, a very large barn, belonging to Mr. John Scott, in Northampton township, Bucks county, was set on fire and totally destroyed, with all its contents, consisting of a hundred tons of hay, all the crops of the season, and several wagons and harness. Three horses and a valuable bull also perished in the flames. The total loss was about $5,000. Suspicion fell upon two girls named Louisa Brisken and Eliza Jane McKay, who were milking in the barn yard when the flames were discovered. Louisa is aged sixteen, and Eliza Jane is but thirteen years of age. After long questioning, the last named admitted that she had taken advantage of the momentary absence of the other girl to fire the barn.—She expressed regret for the act, and said that her motive was revenge for real or fancied injuries which she had received at the hands of the family of Mr Scott. The young incendiary was taken before Alderman Whiting, of Hartsville, by whom she was committed to Doylestown jail.

Destructive Fire in Providence.

Loss Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars.—The elegant block known as the Howard Building, in Providence, R. I., was totally destroyed by fire on Monday night, together with the Providence Theatre, which was contiguous. The fire is supposed to have originated in the varnishing-room connected with a furniture store in Howard Building. The entire loss is supposed to be about $250,000, and the insurance $161,400. The Howard Building was one of the finest edifices in the city. The first and second stories were devoted to spacious stores, and the upper stories contained a hall unsurpassed by any in New England. It was the popular lecture hall, and its destruction will occasion much disappointment, as the courses of lectures had just commenced. About five years ago a building of the same size, and not less elegant, was destroyed by fire on the same site. The same fire also destroyed the Providence Museum.

A Fast Youth.—William Porter, a youth of eighteen years of age, committed suicide by taking strychnine, at Jackson, Tennessee, a few days ago. He had recently married a young lady, and, being under age and dissipated, according to his own account, his parents or guardian refused to put him in possession of property coming to him. He went to Jackson complaining of such treatment, but at the same time drinking and reckless, and, after remaining there a few days, wrote a letter home to his wife and then took the fatal poison. No doubt this young man's untimely death was directly attributable to that loose and indulgent system of training—or rather the lack of any restraint—that is the ruin of so many young men.—Columbus (Geo) Enquirer.

How the Money Goes.—It is estimated that twenty millions of dollars are annually expended in Europe by American visitors. In ten years this would equal the whole currency of our country.

"We want to be more Americanized."

THE ADAMS SENTINEL.

GETTYSBURG:

MONDAY, NOV. 22, 1858.

☞Thanksgiving-day passed off very pleasantly. There was a pretty general cessation from the usual occupations of life. There were Union services in the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Mr. Keiser offering the opening prayer, and the sermon, which was a very impressive one, by Rev. Dr. Krauth. In the German Reformed Church, there were services by the Rev. Mr. Weiser, of Selin's Grove; and in the Associate Reformed, by the Rev. Mr. McElwee.—The afternoon was spent in the interchange of pleasant socialities by our citizens.

☞The following gentlemen were, on Monday last, elected Directors of the Bank of Gettysburg:

George Swope, Joshua Motter, George Young, E. F. Shorb, D Wills, H. J. Myers, Wm. R Stewart, Jacob Reese, J. J. Kerr, D. Kandlehart, Marcus Samson, Wm. D. Himes, Henry Wirt, jr.

☞The following gentlemen were chosen officers of the Gettysburg and Petersburg Turnpike Company, at the election on Monday the 8th inst.:

President—Wm. D. Himes.

Managers—Wm McSherry, Geo. Swope, Jacob Wirt, John R. McClellan, Robert McCurdy.

Treasurer—John H. McClellan.

Property Sold.

George Arnold, Esq. has disposed of his valuable Locust Mill property, in Germany township, in several parcels, to different individuals—whole amount $18,850.

☞The property at New Oxford, belonging to the estate of Mrs. Caroline M. Martin, deceased, was sold on Saturday week, by Dr. J. P. Smith, the executor, for $1,065. Purchaser, Philip Hemler.

☞Mr. Isaac Sell, of Littlestown, has sent us an ear of Corn, cultivated by him, which contains 1320 grains! It can be seen at the office. Who can beat this?

☞Our friend, Eli Horner, Esq., of Cumberland township, determined not to be outdone by the Hamiltonbanner, brought us a Potato, which, like the Major's, is in the neighborhood of a two-pounder—so that if he could not beat the Major, he ran him close.

New Cars.

We learn that the Gettysburg Railroad Co. have placed upon their track a set of eight new freight cars. These cars are highly spoken of for their admirable adaptation to the general uses of the company. They are built upon an entirely new and improved plan.

Shocking Accident.

We regret to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Daniel S. Martz, of Huntington township, on Wednesday last. He was riding on the State Road, a short distance north of Heidlersburg, when it is thought his horse frightened and threw him; and one of his feet being fastened in the stirrup he was dragged some distance, and killed on the spot. His coat and vest were torn off him. He leaves a family to mourn his sudden death. He was a blacksmith, and formerly resided in Gettysburg. He was a brother of the Rev. Mr. Martz, of Harrisburg, formerly of our Seminary, and Lutheran missionary to India.

☞Our neighbors of Hanover have determined on having a Cemetery—have formed a Company, selected the ground, and appointed our friend, Joseph S. Gitt, rural architect, who will arrange it, beyond a doubt, in beautiful style.

Michigan.—The official majority by which the Hon. William A. Howard is defeated in the first (Detroit) district of Michigan is seventy-five. The new Legislature of that State is divided thus:—Senate—Republicans 24, Democrats 8; House—Republicans 60, Democrats 22; joint ballot Republican majority 54. A United States Senator is to be chosen in place of the Hon Chas. E. Stuart.

Novel Bequest.—The will of the late Judge Wm. Jay, of Westchester county, N. Y., just made public, contains the following:

I bequeath to my son one thousand dollars in trust, to be applied by him at his discretion in promoting the safety and comfort of fugitive slaves.

This bequest is probably the first of the kind in this country.

Potatoes Plenty in the West.—During the last two weeks 20,000 barrels, equal to 50,000 bushels of potatoes, were received at Cincinnati. The entire receipts during the year ending September, 1858, comprised only 110,000 bushels.

☞The Hon. Thomas L. Harris, member of Congress from Illinois, is said to be lying dangerously ill. His health has been bad for a long time. Last winter, while in Washington, he was on one occasion carried from a sick bed to the House to vote, and at the late election he insisted upon being carried to the polls. Since then he has been confined to his bed. He was re-elected to the next Congress by a majority of 4,556, a gain of 2,440.

Doings of Court.

The following business was disposed of last week, in the Courts of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions:

COMMON PLEAS.

Samuel Ferguson and David Reese vs. Bernard Devine—Appeal from Justice of Peace. Defendant confessed Judgment for Plaintiffs for $27 65.

Gettysburg Railroad vs. Walter F. Shultz—Summons in Assumpsit to recover claim of $180, alleged to be due and owing by Defendant. Verdict for Plaintiff for $107 65.

William Boller, use of Jacob Brinkerhoff, vs. Andrew Hartman—Summons in Assumpsit to recover amount of Promissory Note given in purchase of a horse by defendant. Verdict for Plaintiff for $64 33.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

Com. vs. Jesse W. Bittinger—Indictment for Adultery. Verdict Not Guilty, but Defendant to pay costs of prosecution.

Com. vs. Francis Lytle—Surety of the Peace. Complaint dismissed; County to pay costs of prosecution.

Com. vs. M. Beck—Surety of the Peace, on complaint of Lewis Hoopy. Complaint dismissed, but Defendant to pay costs.

Com. vs. Wm. Crabbs, Theodore Gardner, Amos Gardner, Jacob Gardner, and W. Clapper. Indictment for the "unlawful taking and carrying away" of sundry watermelons growing on the premises of Charles Bosser. Verdict—Not Guilty as to the Gardners and Clapper, but Guilty as to Crabbs. The latter not appearing at rendition of verdict, his recognizance was forfeited.

Com vs. John Meekly. Indictment for Adultery. The Jury in this case retired to their room on Saturday afternoon, and rendered a verdict yesterday (Sunday) morning, about 11 o'clock—Not Guilty, but Defendant to pay costs of prosecution.

☞The Court adjourned over Thanksgiving-day.

The Gettysburg Markets.

A new feature in our paper to-day is the Gettysburg Markets, which we shall endeavor to publish each week, carefully corrected, up to the hour of going to press.

New Warehouse.

The new Ware-house now being erected by Messrs McCurdy & King, about four miles from this place, will soon be completed. It will be a substantial and commodious building—sufficiently roomy for a large business. It is two-stories high and admirably adapted for the purpose.

Loss of a Steamer.—The steamer Fulton City, bound from Pittsburg to St. Louis, struck a stump at Buffington Island on Tuesday morning and sunk in sixteen feet water. Twelve deck passengers were drowned. The boat, which was valued at eighteen thousand dollars, is a total loss. The passengers lost all their baggage.

☞The Governor of Missouri is a beautiful representative of the Border-Ruffian Chivalry. Twice since he filled the Gubernatorial chair he has been whipped when drunk. A few days ago he was found drunk at a negro wedding. Upon this The Jefferson City Inquirer says: "If frolicking with negroes, drinking with negroes, eating with negroes, isn't establishing 'negro equality,' we would like to know what is?"

The Kansas Gold Mines.—The Cincinnati Gazette has letters from Kansas of November 4th, which speak of the arrival there of three miners having $6,000 or $7,000 in gold. The three men were employed about three months in obtaining this dust. The gold excitement, it is stated, increases, and the opening of spring will present an emigration westward, to the new El Dorado, never yet equaled in the history of gold discovery—even surpassing that to California.

☞A Widow's Fidelity.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal states that Mrs. Cookman, the wife of the eloquent Methodist clergyman who was lost in the steamer President, has never given up the idea that he is safe and will yet come home. It is now eighteen years since the President was lost, but her faith in his ultimate return has never been shaken. His plate is regularly set at the table, his chair awaits his coming, and the ringing of the door-bell rouses the flush to her cheek and each step on the outside seems to say the long absent one has come home. Those years of mental anguish, who can tell the woe crowded into them!—who can fathom the sorrow of that hope so long deferred! But it presents a bright view of the happiness of that home in other days, from which the husband and father has been so long away.

The Cold Weather.—The "oldest inhabitant," says the Manchester, (N. H.) American, calls the weather of the past few days unmatched by any at this season of the year since 1820. The snow covers the hills all around us, the ponds are covered with ice, and the cold is as chilly as mid winter. The weather philosophers predict that a warm spell is yet to come before winter sets in.

The Tallahassee Floridian says that on the 10th instant that district was visited with a severe white frost, sufficient to kill all kinds of vegetation.

☞The St. Louis Republican tells in a pleasant way the wicked doings of an actor named Hoechster, a German, who married two ladies, one after the other; one of them a young lady of St. Louis, the other a resident of New York, and then ran away with a third, who he would have served like the others had not a very large brother and a police officer interfered. He is now in jail and thinks of committing suicide.

The Next Congress.

The whole number of members of the House whose existence begins on the fourth of March next, is 236, and of this number 152 have already been chosen, which is all that will be elected this year. The members elected include 85 administration democrats, 12 anti-Lecompton democrats, 103 republicans, and 2 Americans. Supposing that the States yet to elect choose members of the same politics as those which now represent them, the House will stand as follows: administration democrats 100, anti-Lecompton democrats 12, republicans 110, Americans 14, total 236.

It appears, therefore, that while Mr. Buchanan came into office with a majority of 22 to support his administration, on the assembling of the next Congress, at the expiration of only half his term of service, there will be an opposition majority of 36. This is the verdict which the people pass upon his acts, and this is their protest against the policy of the present administration.

Poor Buck.—His partisans are dropping off, and worshipping the newly risen sun, Douglas. The Buchanan press is going the same road. Why don't Buchanan resign?

☞There are yet eighty-two members of the next Congress to be elected, by the States of Alabama, Connecticut, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, and New Hampshire.—These States are now represented by sixty-two Democrats and twenty Opposition members. If the elections to be held in them should result as the last Congressional elections did, the Opposition would have a majority of about twenty in the next Congress.

☞The state of our relations with Mexico is such that our Executive government must necessarily very soon take a positive attitude in regard to them. I have no doubt the policy of the Executive on the subject will be fully developed in the President's message to Congress at the opening of the ensuing session. The policy of inactivity is, I am persuaded, to be abandoned. It may be a question how far the present cabinet may be a unit in regard to measures now under consideration in relation to Mexico, but it is to be supposed, from the past transactions of the administration, that they will present a firm and united front in regard to foreign as well as domestic questions.

New Governor for Kansas.—The President has appointed Samuel Medary, a confirmed office-holder, Governor of Kansas Territory, in the place of Denver, resigned. Medary has been Governor of Ohio, Postmaster at Columbus in that State, and we believe, Governor of Minnesota already. He has how gone to "the grave yard of Governors."

The Late Battles with the Indians.—Gen. Scott has issued a general order commending the gallantry of the American troops engaged in the numerous combats with the Indians, which have occurred since May, 1857. Very important results have been gained, and in some quarters the Indians have been completely subdued. The battles have been very numerous, and many brave deeds have been done and many remarkable victories won. Some of the battles were fought against terrible odds, and some of the struggles were very severe.

Renewed Indian Hostilities in Iowa.—We learn from the Iowa papers that a renewal of Indian depredations is threatened in the interior of that State. A special messenger recently arrived at the capital with information that the Indians around Spirit Lake are daily becoming more and more insolent in their bearing towards the whites, and are committing depredations on their property. Horses had been stolen, and further outrages are apprehended. The Indians around Spirit Lake are supposed to be some of Inkpadutah's band, who butchered the inhabitants of the same settlement in the spring of 1857. Governor Lowe has ordered a volunteer company to proceed to Spirit Lake with all dispatch.

☞Hon. John M. Read, lately elected a Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has been duly commissioned by the Governor, for fifteen years from the first Monday in December next.

☞Our dates from Victoria, Vancouver Island, are to October 8, and from the mines on Fraser river to October 4. The river has fallen and considerable gold was being taken out, but the weather was so cold and unpleasant that many of the miners are deserting the country and returning to California. By two steamers which arrived in San Francisco on the 11th and 12th October over eight hundred persons returned from the Fraser river region.

☞Our latest New Orleans and Mobile papers announce the appearance of frost at those places for several consecutive mornings, and advise absentees that they can now return home without fear of being seized by the yellow fever.

☞Such are the facilities in Indiana for obtaining a divorce, that the Indianapolis Journal says there are full a thousand cases now before the courts, four-fifths of which are from out of the State. Some legislative action on the subject will be taken at the next session of the Legislature.

Sustain Home Interests.

No one should ever go abroad for what he can purchase at home. We have said this before, and now repeat it, and shall keep repeating it as long as "circumstances" shall so require. Home mechanics are always safe to trade with because we know them. The safest place for children is the roof tree of their paternal home. So with everything else. Home products are the best. But nothing is more important to home interests than the selection of your reading matter. Be sure to encourage newspapers published in your own locality.—City papers are all well enough in their places, but they cannot pay attention to your local matters. By all means take your home paper, and advertise in it, for business is more inspired by a knowledge of what is buying and selling than by any other cause. A man who hasn't local pride and public spirit enough to adequately support his local paper, isn't very likely, on the whole, to do much good to himself, or anybody else.

☞It is said that the Departments at Washington are straining every point, to make as favorable a show as possible as to expenditures—so as to bring the estimates within sixty or seventy millions. These efforts are made not with any desire to be economical, but solely with a view to avoid if possible the storm of popular indignation at the outrageous and reckless extravagance that has characterized the Buchanan administration. It is in an awkward position just at present. Its corruption and extravagance has aroused the deep indignation of the people, and its retrenchments will necessarily involve the loss of appropriations which may be greatly needed in future operations for the benefit of the administration party.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The practice-ship Plymouth, which arrived at Mobile yesterday, bringing Mr. Forsyth, our minister to Mexico, has been ordered to Washington. The sloop of war St. Louis will be immediately put in commission to supply her place in the Gulf. Commander Ogden has received preparatory orders to command this vessel.

☞The official returns of the New York election, comprising all but four counties, show that the Republican vote is fifty eight thousand larger than it was last year. The majority remains almost precisely as we before reported, and the ultimate result will differ very little. The American vote is ten thousand behind what it was last year, and shows a falling off of one-half since 1856.

War between Mexico and Spain.—Three Spanish vessels having appeared off Vera Cruz on the 31st ult., President Juarez immediately issued a proclamation announcing that Spain was about to make war on Mexico, at the instance of the Captain General of Cuba and 'spurious sons of Mexico.' He therefore calls on all Mexicans to unite and prepare to resist the common enemy.

A Fast Young Colored Man.—Spencer Gilmore, colored, aged 18 or 20 years, has been arrested at Lancaster, Pa., charged with forging the name of Mrs. Sarah H. Porter, to several checks, on which he obtained in all, the sum of $155. The Lancaster Express says:

He wore good clothes, carried a tip top fancy cigar case, filled with the best brand of Havanas, and a port-monnaie which would grace the pocket of a Broadway dandy of income. There was $2 99 in the port monnie—all he had left out of the $155 he had stolen during the last month. He made money fly right handsomely, spending five and six dollars a night playing bagatelle at a celebrated establishment in town; spent $15 for lager beer in one night at a colored fandango down town; had just paid $20 for a cat, and ordered a "raglan" and "business suit" at a fashionable tailor's, for which he was to pay next week.

The Weather.

Snow and Ice.—The "cold snap" of the last few days seems to have extended pretty much all over the country. At Wheeling, on Monday morning, the thermometer was down to 20, and the ground covered with one inch of snow. At Wilmington, N. C., there was a slight fall of snow on Tuesday morning, and at Halifax, same State, it was two inches deep. The New York papers state that the Hudson river was covered with a thin skim of ice above Poughkeepsie last Friday, and the thermometer was only 15 degrees above zero. Since then there have been two falls of snow at Poughkeepsie, and the weather very cold. In New York city, on Tuesday morning, the thermometer stood eight degrees below the freezing point at sunrise, an unusual cold for the middle of November. At Norfolk, Va., and York, Pa., on Monday night, about an inch of snow fell, and at Cincinnati, on Sunday night, the ground was covered, but it soon melted. Steamboat navigation on Lake Superior has been suspended for the season.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—The sleighing continues good. The thermometer, at 8 o'clock this morning, indicated 22 degrees above zero.

St. John's, Nov. 17.—Winter weather has set in unusually early here. The St. John's river has been frozen since the 13th instant solid enough to admit the passage of light teams. There is also considerable snow in the interior. Business of all kinds is nearly at a stand still, and unless the timber and ship trade revives, there cannot fail to be much suffering during the ensuing Winter and Spring.

☞Our venerable friend, Capt. John Adair, who has just left us for a residence with his daughter in Bucks county, is still, in his aged days, courting the Muses, and has sent us on the following poetical effusion on the result of the late election, which we lay before our readers with pleasure:—

The election day has now[illegible]'d by,
And Lecomptonism is doom'd to die;
Our Government is so corrupted,
Its course must now be interrupted,
Their tyranny we all do know,—
Their acts with Kansas plainly show—
To compel a territory free
In abject slavery to be.
The Kansas boys they could not fool,
Though "Buck" was still their pliant tool;
All bribes and threats they did disdain,
Their lawful rights they would maintain.

Their extravagance, it is so great,
'T would require a volume to relate;
Buck's bills, they paid them by the lump,
(Whipping the de'il around the stump.)
To favorites, bribery must be paid,
But to raise the means, they give no aid;
Their free-trade system proves a curse,
All its evils here, we can't rehearse.
Europe, our specie all does take,
For articles which we can make—
Could make them all as well refined,
Their texture of a superior kind.

This injurious system, as it goes,
Caus'd many factories to close;
With pauper labor they can't contend,
Without your being the country's friend.
If fair protection you would give,
Our manufacturers could live;
By your evil policy at large,
Most of their hands they must discharge.
Some few that with them yet do stay,
Only receive about half-pay;
Their rightful claims have been neglected—
Their petitions all by you rejected.
Your pockets fill'd, and you well-fed,
Care not if thousands have no bread;
If this mystery you would unfold,
We believe you handled British gold.

Many have now run out their race,
We'll try some others in their place;
For a few school-boys of penetration,
Would not bring on such degradation.
Although their exit was severe,
No one can blame their "organ" here,—
He struggled on, through mud and mire,
Lest Locofocoism expire.
It requires a man of skill and might,
Clearly to show that wrong is right;
Their candidate, he raised "sky high,"
Predicting ours "in dust must lie;"
On election-day, that we "would fall,"
And "Mac would be no where at all."
But he's elected, to their sorrow,
And to their cause a pointed arrow;
In the Capitol he soon will stand,
And with a patriotic hand,
That will turn the current, check the tide,
And be a sore thorn in their side.

The Tariff Question.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says that Cobb has been for some time closely engaged in the preparation of his report, arranging and digesting facts and figures, and gives it as his opinion that but a very slight, if any, modification or revision of the tariff will be recommended. Other reports from Washington are different. They are to the effect that a combined and vigorous effort will be made next Congress to effect some change favoring a restoration of the industrial interests of the country, now so depressed and prostrated, to a healthful and prosperous condition. It is hoped and said that the Administration will take ground in favor of such change; but if not, it is thought the Opposition will carry such a measure over the Administration. We need a tariff modification badly, both for our depleted national treasury and for the suffering manufacturing interests of the country.

Plundering in Michigan.

The Detroit Advertiser is showing up the heavy frauds and peculation of the Democratic office-holders in that State, during the last few years, and charges that the funds consecrated to educational purposes have alone been robbed to the amount of not less than $400,000. It charges further that, after the final overthrow of the Democracy there, in 1854, the officials, as a last grab, revived and allowed a set of fraudulent claims, which had been thoroughly examined and repeatedly rejected in previous years, amounting to more than $60-000, depleting the State Treasury to that extent, as their farewell benefit. The heaviest of these allowances ($35,000) has been sued for, under Republican auspices, and judgment has been obtained in favor of the State. These are a few of the items which go to make a dark record against the Michigan Democracy, showing that, during the fourteen years of their undivided sway, their officials have wasted or directly pocketed not less than three millions of the people's money! The particulars are fully set forth, and we are not aware that these charges have been at all successfully met by the other side. They told with powerful effect upon the election, and with good reason.

Washington, November 15.

The War Department has received important despatches from the Pacific, announcing the conclusion of the campaign against the Indians in Washington Territory. General Clarke sums up by saying all the Indians engaged in hostilities have been beaten, and all have been driven to terms. The two howitzers abandoned by Col. Steptoe, and the remains of Captain Taylor and Lieut. Gaston, who fell in Steptoe's engagement, had been recovered.—Some of the Indians, known to have been murderers and robberers, were executed.—The troops will withdraw to the seaboard, the summer reinforcement for operations elsewhere.

Death of Two Children from Drinking Liquor.—A little boy, four years and six months old, named Boyard Surplass, residing in Brooklyn, died on Wednesday, from the effects of a glass of gin given to it by the father. The child called for water, and the gin was given by mistake instead. A mother child, less than four years of age, named John Burk, in the same city, was killed by drinking "applejack." The father kept a tavern, and a tub containing this liquor was set in the back room. This was found by the child, and partaken of before it was discovered.

A Very Young Mother.—In the return of indigent children supported by the town of Taunton, recently made to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the overseers certify that "Elizabeth Drayton was eleven years old the twenty-fourth day of May, 1858; and became the mother of Horace White Drayton, on the first day of February, 1858 —three months and twenty-four days before she was eleven years old;" and on the 30th of September of the present year, the mother and child were living at the public charge, in the town of Taunton, Massachusetts.

Burglary at Mechanicsburg, Pa.

We learn that the grocery and dry goods house of Messrs. Riegle & Herring, at Mechanicsburg, Pa., was entered by a party of burglars, between two and three o'clock Tuesday morning, by cutting out a panel of the door in the rear of the store. The iron safe, weighing nearly one thousand pounds, was then carried from the establishment through the garden to a spot about one hundred yards distant, the lock filled with gun powder and ignited. The work was most effectually done, the whole front of the safe being blown out, and fragments of the lock embedded in the plank of a stable near. The burglars then secured a considerable sum of money deposited therein, and decamped. The books and papers were not disturbed. The explosion sounded through the village like the report of a cannon, and caused many of the inhabitants to leave their beds A large mastiff left in the store, and valued for his watchfulness, gave no intimation of the presence of the burglars.

A Finger for a Life.

The Keokuk Journal, of the 23d, relates this incident: "At the Lincoln meeting in Carthage, Illinois, yesterday, Captain Appler, of this place, was there with his field piece, firing a salute, which he was employed by the Republicans to do. The powder being bad, in the course of the firing the gun went off prematurely.—James Lynch was at the muzzle ramming the cartridge, when it ignited. Capt. Appler, who was at the vent, finding a premature discharge inevitable, called, 'Get away, Jim!' holding on to the vent till the fire burned his finger off up to the joint, and until Lynch had escaped the range of the ramrod. It is seldom, in chronicling an incident of this kind, that we find men possessing the nerve and heroic fortitude that Capt. A. displayed on this occasion to save his friend from an untimely death. Both were considerably burned by powder, but neither dangerously hurt."

Handsome Salaries.

The King of Prussia—who has lately withdrawn from the government of that country, owing to his insanity, a Regency with his brother, the Prince of Prussia, being established in his stead—is hereafter to receive, as his salary, two-fifths of the revenues of the crown, amounting to $1,200,000. The Prince is to receive three fifths, amounting to $1,800,000. This is what we call pretty fair and handsome salaries! The Prussian people could get far abler and better men than either the King or the Prince for rulers in this country for one-tenth of the salaries which they pay! They have a chance here to make a handsome saving.

Two More Boy Murderers.—N. Trautwein and A. Leit, two youths indicted at St. Louis for the murder of H. Downey, were, on Monday, found "guilty of murder in the first degree." The St. Louis Republican states that Downey was murdered for his money, and adds: "This case should be an awful warning to youth, teaching them that the love of money is the root of all evil. It should teach them to try to be satisfied with the station in which they may be placed, however irksome it appears, or however hard a master they may have; that getting money honestly is the best way; that avarice leads to cheating, cheating to robbery, robbery to murder, and murder to an ignoble death or a life of ignominy and shame."

Brigham Young.—Among the curious developments of the stoppage of a banking house at Washington, is the fact that Brigham Young is minus about ten thousand dollars, having been a confiding depositor to that extent, through the agency of the territorial delegate, who transacted his financial business in that quarter.

Patent Guns.—Mr. A. Weisgerber, of Memphis, Tennessee, has a patent for a gun that will shoot thirty five times in a minute. The balls are thrown with great force and precision. The principle is applied by the inventor to shot guns, rifles and pistols.

A Precocious Horse Thief.—George Homer, jr., a lad about fourteen years, was committed to jail a few days since, in Washington county, to answer a charge of horse stealing. The prisoner alleged that several persons made him drunk, and then induced him to commit the theft.

A Woman Asking $6,000 for a Kiss.—The court-room in Danbury, Conn., was crowded on Thursday to see justice done between a lady and gentleman from Wetsport, the former claiming to have been damaged $6,000 by a kiss from the latter. Some seventy witnesses were present. The breach was finally healed without the aid of lawyers, much to the chagrin of numerous sympathizers on both sides.

☞Bonner of the Ledger has made another ten strike. He has entered into an engagement with the Hon. Edward Everett, to contribute fifty two papers for the Ledger, for which he has paid $10,000 in cash, which sum has been paid over by Mr. Everett to the Mount Vernon Fund.

Danger of Eating Late Suppers.—A young man named John Reilly, Jr., residing in West Troy, N. Y., attended a dance on Monday evening. After the dance he ate a hearty supper, and soon after retired to bed at his home, apparently in good health. The next morning he was found by those who endeavored to awake him lying dead in his bed. A post-mortem examination showed that his death was caused by congestion of the lungs, produced by indigestion.

☞It is reported that fifty to one hundred laboring men left Davenport, Iowa, leaving their families while they seek work South. Many of their families are left with but little means of support. The parting is said to have been a sorrowful sight—wives and children crying on the shore, and husbands and fathers on the boats.

Execution.—James Rodgers, who deliberately murdered Mr. Swanston, by stabbing, while the latter was quietly walking through Ninth Avenue with his wife, was hanged in the city prison at New York on Friday week About a hundred persons were admitted to the scene of execution.—Rodgers was brought to the gallows attended by two priests. He made no remarks. After prayer the rope was cut, and in an instant the body of the youthful murderer was dangling in the air. His age was twenty years.

Rescued from Mormonism.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 16.—Judge Eckles has arrived here having in charge Henrietta Polidore, rescued from the Mormons on a writ of habeas corpus at the request of the British Government, having been abducted from Gloucester, England, four years ago Elizabeth Cotton, the author of the celebrated letter in regard to Mormon life, has also arrived, en route for England.

A Wide awake "Lady."—A "Lady" was detected, a few days since, in Cincinnati, Ohio, of pocketing a package of gloves in a store. When charged with the theft, she burst into tears and tendered a $20 bill in payment. The merchant took but $5, and gave her $15 change, but on counting the cash at night, that $20 bill was found to be a counterfeit. "Phanny the pieelings" of that storekeeper.

Accidents from Fire—On Monday last, while Miss Euphrasia Beverly, of Washington city, was standing before a grate at the house of Miss M Daval, at Richmond, Va., the draft drew her skirts towards it and they caught fire. Her clothing was almost entirely consumed upon her person, and she was so dreadfully burned that she died on the following day. Miss Daval was also considerably burnt in endeavoring to assist Miss Beverly. On Friday last a similar accident occurred on the farm of Lieut Poindexter, in Norfolk county, Va., which caused the death of a servant woman.

☞The War Department has ordered Gen. Harney to St. Louis to assume the command of the western division of the army.

☞TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The advertiser having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe Lung Affection, and that dread disease, Consumption,—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To all who desire it he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost him nothing, and may prove a blessing. CATTLE POWDER.

BRENIG, FRONFIELD & CO'S CATTLE MEDICINES have been throughly tested and pronounced unsurpassed and unsurpassable. None other as useful have been introduced during the century.

Whilst farmers are using every effort, and investing large amounts of money in the improvement of their soils, too little attention is generally paid to the health and development of farm Stock.

Brenig, Fronfield & Co. justly claim being the first, in this country, who devoted their attention to this important subject. Their VEGETABLE CATTLE POWDER was the result of several years' study and experimenting—which experiments have actually shown that, by feeding this Powder, a Cow will yield from 1 to 2½ pounds butter per week more than when she does not get the powder; all other conditions alike. The same increase is proportionably produced in the fattening of cattle or swine.

It is used with equal profit for Horses, Cattle and Hogs. No farmer, or feeder of any kind, should be without it a day.

MOREHEAD'S
MAGNETIC PLASTER
The Great Strengthener and Pain Destroyer.

THE best and cheapest Household Remedy in the World. Simple and pleasant in its application, certain and effectual in its result. A beautiful, scientific, external Curative, applicable for the relief of Pain at any time, in any place, in any part of the human system, and under all circumstances. If you put this Plaster anywhere, if Pain is there, the Plaster will stick there until the Pain has vanished. The Plaster magnetizes the Pain away, and PAIN CANNOT EXIST WHERE THIS PLASTER IS APPLIED.

Rheumatism, Lameness, Stiffness, Weakness, Debility, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Coughs and Colds, Pains and Aches of every kind, down even to Corns, are IMMEDIATELY RELIEVED, and, with a little patience, PERMANENTLY CURED, by the magical influence of the MAGNETIC PLASTER. It is the simplest, surest, safest, pleasantest and cheapest remedy in existence. Its application is universal—equally to the strong man, the delicate woman, and the feeble infant. To each and all it will prove a Balm and a Blessing. Its use is agreeable, and without annoyance or trouble. Its price is within reach of all—rich or poor; all may have it, and all should have it who are sick, and suffering in any way.

FARMERS should be always supplied with this invaluable PLASTER. It will be the Good Physician in any household, ready at all times, and at instant notice.

Put up in air tight tin boxes. Each box will make six to eight plasters, and any child can spread them. Price 25 cents a box, with full and plain directions.

D. C. MOREHEAD, M. D.,
Inventor and Proprietor, 10 Walker st., New York.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN

COOKING STOVES.

Consumption of Smoke and Gas, and Saving of Fuel.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the public that he has added to his former variety of Stoves, a new Patented Gas-burning COOKING STOVE.—It is well known that all inflammable matter requires a certain amount of air to support combustion, and if the supply is insufficient, it is impossible to produce a flame.—The heat of the fire, in ordinary cooking stoves, decomposes the fuel, and as all the fresh air is admitted under the grate, its oxygen is exhausted before it has passed through the fire-chamber. The close flues at the top of the stove then act as an extinguisher, tending to put out the fire instead of assisting the combustion. A large portion of the fuel, therefore, passes off in the shape of smoke, clogging up the flues of the stove so as to impede the draft and interfere with the baking,—or of the invisible gas which combines with the lime and so destroys the mortar of the chimneys, loosening the bricks, and exposing the dwellings to the danger of fire.

The introduction of an additional supply of cold air, would cool the gas below the igniting temperature, but by the proper application above the fire, of air previously heated to a temperature for several hundred degrees (which is one of the prominent features of the patent,) the gases are inflamed in numerous jets, and their combustion is sufficient to heat the oven, even if the draft through the fire chamber is entirely closed.

In addition to the ordinary direct draft under the grate and through the fire chamber, the gas-burner has an additional draft through the top plates, which is of itself sufficient to maintain combustion. The upper draft not only consumes the gases, but it helps to strengthen and preserve the centre pieces, which are most exposed to the direct action of the fire, and which are made double instead of the usual single plates.—By means of this draft only, all the operations of cooking can be carried on when the fuel is but partially ignited, and the fuel consequently burns more slowly and more economically.

A sufficient evidence of the effect of the gases in heating the oven, is found in the fact that the oven will be ready for baking, even before the fire is thoroughly kindled, and much sooner than in any other stove.

As Gas burning Stoves are the order of the day, the Gas-burning Cooking Stove will not only be the leading stove of the present season, but it will undoubtedly supersede all others. Purchasers will, therefore, consult their own interests, by seeing and examining it before giving orders elsewhere. The operation is so perfect, and its advantages are so easily to be seen and understood, that it readily commands at retail, an advance of five or six dollars over the retail price of any stove of the same size.

Also, on hand a variety of PARLOR COAL STOVES—cheap.

A Card from Dr. James M. Jarrett,

of the New-York Lung Infirmary.—My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, and a twelve years' course of steady devotion to the Cure of Pulmonary Consumption and its kindred diseases, together with my unrivalled opportunities and advantage of pathological research—aided not a little by a perfect system of Medical Inhalation—has enabled me to arrive at a decisive, direct, and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and Air-Passages. By Inhalation, the vapor and curative properties of medicines are directly addressed to the diseased organs and the integument. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of general treatment; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of both general and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and personal friends, through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself, as heretofore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping therefore that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, prepared to suit each individual case, Inhaling Vapors, Medical Inhalers, &c. &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or the Canadas: TERMS—My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz.: $12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also, Inhaling Vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows: $6 to be paid to Express Agent on receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month, if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full, can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely upon immediate relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over thirty days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address

JAMES M. JARRET, M.D.,
No. 820 Broadway, cor Twelfth St., N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where one improved apparatus for the inhalation of medical vapor can be seen and inspected.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR!

PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD.

Compounded entirely from GUMS,

IS ONE OF THE BEST PURGATIVE AND LIVER MEDICINES now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder, and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, that accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time thus it purges it; and whentaken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The Liver is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the out system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with Liver Complaint, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, purifying the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

Bilious attacks are cured, and, what is better, prevented, by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents nightmare

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures Costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure dyspepsia.

☞One dose of two tea-spoonsful will relieve Sick Headache.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic while one dose often repeated is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, and a preventive of Cholera.

☞Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

☞One bottle taken for Jaundice removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa in its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures attacks caused by Worms in Children: there is no surer, safer, or speedier remedy in the world, as it never fails.

☞A few bottles cures Dropsy, by exciting the absorbents.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventive for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Bilious Type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

The Liver Invigorator

IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a Diseased Liver.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

(Signed) DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

HENRY GROVE, St. Charles Co., Mo., Nov. 19, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative. we did so with little hope of success, but to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAN.
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAN.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My Hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind. Yours Respectfully,

DANIEL N. MURPHY.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recount the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.
